Trouble in River City stands for pinball

We have trouble, right here in Gull River City. It starts with 'T' and that rhymes with 'P' and that stands for pinball . . . . . Cosmic Pinball, that is. That's the name of the mini-musical to be staged by the Grade Eights at Archie Stouffer Elementary School this Thursday at 8 p.m. There's a cast of dozens for this 45-minute play and the admission is free.

Shortage must be addressed

The initial groundwork for creating affordable housing in Haliburton County is now complete, but a non-profit housing board is needed in order for further progress to be made.

The Municipal Housing Statement for the County of Haliburton identifies the need for at least 54 units of assisted housing. This report, which was initiated by the Haliburton County Social Action Committee, was recently presented to county council.

The need for affordable housing comes as no surprise to George Davidson, co-chairman of this committee. As the director of the county's social services agency, Davidson says he is aware of people living in substandard housing or paying rents that consume from 50 to 60 per cent of their income. Jude King, director of the Family Violence Network and co-chairman of this committee, is also witness to the housing problem in this county, said Davidson.

The housing statement confirms Davidson's belief that there is a need for Local man killed in traffic accident

Merv Mintz

A 30-year-old Minden man was killed last week in a traffic accident near Sundridge.

Merv Mintz, a Ministry of Transportation employee, was returning from North Bay last Wednesday afternoon when he was involved in a collision with two tractor trailers on Highway 11, just south of Sundridge. Mintz was killed instantly in the accident.

A spokesman from the Burks Falls OPP Detachment said Mintz was driving south on the highway at 3:10 p.m. when his Ford Bronco crossed into the northbound traffic lane, hitting the left rear side of a tractor trailer driven by Robert Pacey of New Liskeard. The collision caused Pacey's vehicle to go out of control, which in turn caused it to collide with another northbound truck, driven by James Smith of Oakville.

Pacey and Smith escaped injury in this accident, police say.

Mintz is the father of two young boys. He was on his way home to help his wife, Linda, celebrate their youngest son's first birthday when the accident happened.

Funeral services will be held today (Monday) at 3 p.m. at Our Lady of Fatima in Minden.

Board cuts religion classes

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The Haliburton County Board of Education is cancelling religious education classed in area schools.

The decision is in reponse to an Ontario Court of Appeal ruling which found that religious education in a single faith, i.e. Christianity, is indoctrination and contravenes the Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

Having to cancel the classes did not sit well with most trustees and the motion to suspend religious education passed by only a slim margin.

Trustee Tim Casey said the board had very few alternatives in dealing with the issue because of the court's ruling.

The classes will stop when the children return to school from the March break.

Cheryl Murdoch asked what the consequences would be if the board opted to continue religious education at least until the end of the school year.

Director of Education Stuart Baker said that non-Christian parents could challenge the school board for not following the spirit of the court ruling.

Minister of Education Sean Conway announced an interim directive on religious education last Thursday. The directive says the board's can provide religious education providing they do not sponsor the practice of religion and do not force students to conform to any one belief.

Religion should be approached as an academic subject and students should be exposed to all views and taught about all religions, says the ministry.

In Haliburton County, religious education has been conducted by local clergy who visit elementary classrooms. Each minister is responsible for designing the content of the class.

Although the children are taught by clerics from a number of different denominations, the classes are exclusively Christian based.

Baker said that by trying to "tough skin it" and continue the classes in spite of the ruling the trustees would be inviting very strong criticsm, but also very strong support, from different segments of the county's population.

By continuing the classes, chairman Len Salvatori said the board would be going against the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

Wayne Wood said that once the board removes religious education, "we'll never get it back."

Craig Petit suggested not removing the classes from the school to see what of support would be received from thecommunity. Petit also suggested writing a letter to the Ministry of Education, "to let them know we don't like the direction they are heading."

However Salvatori said there doesn't seem to be much opposition to the ruling from local ministers so the trustees are "maybe just beating our heads against the wall."

Murdoch suggested that the board at least allow the classes to continue until the end of the school year. "I'm getting tired of the ministry interrupting programs in the middle of the school year," she said. "I don't think we should just say it's over and done with."

However Superintendent of Education Dale Robinson reminded the trustees that it's the courts, not the ministry, which made the decision. "You might not like it, but you can't lay the blame at the feet of the ministry," he said.

Wendy Ladurantaye said she was "elected by the people, not by some court.

"My job is to speak for the people who put me in this seat and I don't think the people want me to take out what's left of morality in the schools," Ladurantaye said.

Association wants more than windows

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The board of education has come halfway in meeting concerns about air quality at the Archie Stouffer Elementary School Annex, but the Home and School Association isn't completely satisfied.

At last Tuesday's meeting the trustees agreed to spend $4,500 on additional windows for the building, but balked at paying $16,000 for an air-to-air heat exchanger.

"We're happy about the windows," said Kathy Stainton, the Home and School member who has spearheaded the association's efforts to have the annex's air quality addressed. "But we are disappointed that the board chose to ignore four studies that recommended that fresh air not be dependant upon manual operation."

The association has been lobbying the board of education to improve air quality at the annex ever since the former grocery store was converted into classroom space in 1988.

Studies carried out by the local health unit and the Ministry of Labour have concluded that the annex does have a problem with fresh air circulation.

In early February, the association met with the board's special projects committee to voice their concerns about the air problems. They requested that the board install an air-to-air heat exchanger in the building.

This air exchanger would mechanically pump fresh air into the building while removing the stale air.

At last Tuesday's board meeting, the trustees considered the association's request and decided to spend $4,500 to install openable windows in classrooms that don't already have them.

They did not feel, however that the problem warranted spending $16,000 on an air exchange system. They said the children were a lot better off in the annex than they would be in portables.

The board is only renting the building and hopes to build a new school to help ease overcrowding in Minden. Trustee Wayne Wood said he couldn't see spending the money on an air exchanger because of the temporary nature of the annex.

Wally Bunn said compared to portables, which he described as "stuffy", the annex has enough space and "good, high ceilings."

Several trustees said they had visited the annex and were impressed with the classroom space it provides.

"I can't imagine why anyone would want their children out of that school, knowing portables are the alternative," said Craig Pettit.

Chairman Len Salvatori said the board was "going to get some flack" over its decision not to buy the air exchanger.

Stainton said the board's decision seems to based on the optimistic hope that a new school will soon be built.

So far the Ministry of Education has not provided any hope of Haliburton county receiving the funding for the new schools and Stainton says even if the funding comes through, a new school won't be ready for use until the 1992-93 school year.

The association is concerned that, even with the new windows, it will be the responsibility of the teachers to make sure the building is getting enough fresh air.

Although a health unit report prepared in January recognizes that sufficient air circulation can be acheived by opening windows and doors, this practice is not recommended.

"The staff will not know how long and when the doors and windows must be opened. Also other problems may be generated such as cold drafts and the furnace working over time to maintain a proper temperature," the report says.

Because the annex has two furnaces, the board has said that heating the building will not be a problem.

Even though the association is happy that the board has agreed to install the additional windows, Stainton says the request for an air exchanger is going to brought to the special projects committee again.

Continuation of classes would be against the law

Salvatori suggested that the ministers who conduct the classes may be able to do so without indoctrinating the students by focusing on moral values.

Murdoch said the ministers are very careful not to indoctrinate.

But Baker said that by continuing the classes, the board would be going against the wishes of some people in the county. He said the board office has already received phone calls from people who asked why the religious education classes haven't already been discontinued.

By continuing with the present classes, Baker said the trustees would be disobeying "the law of the land" set down by the courts and based on the Charter. "It's a matter of law as opposed to a matter of opinion." Baker said.

It was suggested that perhaps the ministers giving the classes could encompass world religions in the content, but Baker said that was would put an "awful onus on the ministers, who are not employees of this board."

He suggested that if the trustees want to offer religious education they should hire a teacher who is trained in that field.

"Many communities don't have ministers who are willing or able to go into the schools," said Baker. He said many members of the clergy are no longer willing to teach the classes. "I don't blame them one bit for it," said Baker. "It's not a good situation to be in right now."

If the board opts to include religion in its formal curriculum, Baker said it will probably take until the start of the 1991-92 school year to prepare the material and train the teachers.

Murdoch said the court ruling has put the trustees in a Catch-22 situation. "No matter which decision we make, people will be dissatisfied," she said. She again suggested that the classes continue until the end of the school year.

But Robinson said he wondered if it would be fair to ask the ministers to continue with the classes in light of the court ruling. "You could be asking them to break the law," he said.

"Do we really want to break the law?," asked Salvatori.

Wood reminded the trustees that they asked Charles Hughes to resign his position as principal of the Wilberforce school over his stand on the Lord's Prayer.

Last March, Hughes was asked to resign because he continued to use the Lord's Prayer in daily opening excercises, despite the fact that the board opted to drop the prayer because of a court ruling that found its use unconstitutional.

Even though the board has stopped the religious education classes as part of the school day, the Ministry of Education has left the trustees another option.

According to the ministry directive, school boards are allowed to provide classroom space for religion classes taught by clergy, as long as the classes don't take place during regular school hours.

Ghost hunt

Our readers' response to the recent decision by several local municipalities to declare English as their official language is both encouraging and disturbing.

It's heartening to know residents of this area have a strong belief in the equality of all people regardless of race, creed, colour or language.

It's also disturbing, though, to see that people are reading more into the declarations than what was intended by the officials who voted for the resolutions. They are assuming the resolutions are based on bigotry in spite of councillors' arguments to the contrary.

The fact is, the wording of these resolutions clearly recognizes the equality of, and demonstrates respect for, all citizens. The declarations are simply the formal adoption of an historical fact: English is the sole language of communication for these corporations. The declarations present no change to what has been the traditional practice of all municipalities in this county.

The resolutions do not imply that French-speaking people are unwelcome in these municipalities. Instead, these municipalities are formally welcoming them.

In addition to recognizing English as the sole language of commerce for the corporation, the resolutions also formally acknowledge the equality of each ethnic, cultural and language group.

Minden, Lutterworth and Haliburton County Councils all passed the same resolution. The wording s is as follows:

"BE IT RESOLVED that whereas the Corporation is composed of many different ethnic groups, languages and cultures;
AND WHEREAS the Corporation of has always shown respect for each of these cultures by providing preferencial treatment to none;
AND WHEREAS the Corporation has throughout history had one common working language for all of its written and oral communications, which is English;
NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Corporation in the interests of maintaining good will, harmony and sound and responsible fiscal management continue as it has in the past to accept the use of English as the official language of communication with its citizens and all levels of government, thereby demonstrating the concept of equality for each ethnic, cultural and language group in its jurisdiction:
AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that in accordance with the provisions of the Municipal Act of Ontario Part VII and more specifically Section 104A of said Act, the Council of the Corporation declares English to be the official language of the said Corporation."

There is no hint of bigotry in these words and there was none expressed in any debate on these resolutions. Therefore, any accusations of bigotry are unfounded.

Let's stop looking for ghosts where none exist. The problem is not with the resolution but with the misinterpretation of it.

Four 'boisterous louts'

Black 'n White

by Arthur Black

So these four boisterous guys, these ... louts, in their cheap flashy suits and hair down over their collars, come rolling into this very posh penthouse floor office which happens to belong to the marketing manager of EMI Records. They are laughing and wisecracking and generally behaving in a fashion obnoxious enough to get them turfed out of a dockside pub. Their chances of favourably impressing the assembled recording industry moguls must be deemed ... remote.

God knows how they got past the receptionist. They have (of course) a demo tape that they know the record men are going to love. The marketing manager takes the tape, gives the vagabonds the old don't-call-us-we'll-call-you routine and shows them to the door.

When the door hisses shut there are great rollings of eyes among the stogie-smoking executives

English-only resolution a disservice to the residents

Editor:

Attached is a copy of a letter I have forwarded to the Reeve and Members of Council of Lutterworth Township.

The Reeve and Members of Council Township of Lutterworth.

I was dismayed to learn through the two local newspapers that Lutterworth Township council has jumped on the "English only" bandwagon and passed a resolution to the effect that municipal services in Lutterworth Township would be provided in English only.

In my opinion you have done a great disservice to the residents of Lutterworth in that you have tainted us with the covert bigotry you have personally demonstrated.

Financial considerations was the reason reported for your ill-timed resolution. This does not appear to be a valid reason since to my knowledge Lutterworth Township is not now, nor is it likely to be in the foreseeable future, required to provide services in any language other than English.

A quote from the Haliburton Echo of February 21st: " 'I wanted people to know how we felt because we know the province will make us bilingual if we don't do anything', said Mercer."

Perhaps Councillor Mercer will divulge the source of her information that the province will make Lutterworth bilingual since I am aware of no such intention.

The purpose of this letter is to state that as a resident of Lutterworth Township I totally disassociate myself from your "English only" resolution and its implications. I believe this resolution is divisive and serves no purpose other than to fan the flames of linguistic disharmony.

Elizabeth Wright,
Lutterworth Township.

Resolution a 'slap in the face' to non-English

Editor:

Last summer The Times led the community in a poster campaign which declared our belief in fairness and equality for all, regardless of race, creed or ethnic background.

It was with shock and dismay that I read a recent Times editorial extolling the "wisdom" of municipalities which have jumped on the "English Only" bandwagon.

I can't help but wonder if that editorial might have been the final shred of encouragement our municipality and county needed to make their declarations.

In the more than ten years we have lived here, I've always enjoyed being a part of Haliburton County. For the first time in my life I am ashamed of the community in which I live.

While I understand and share the frustration felt by many over certain government decisions and a few outrageous demands, an "English Only" declaration is not the answer. Regardless of its intent, what it is, in fact, is a slap in the face to anyone who has had the "misfortune" to be born non-English.

If we have a quarrel with federal or provincial policy or demands we should address our concerns to the politicians responsible. Let's not insult all French people and people of other nationalities who have nothing to do with this problem.

Our community has grown so much in the last ten years, largely because people have felt welcome here as tourists and cottagers and have decided to make this their home. Do we really want to send out a message that no new businesses or families are welcome here unless their English skills are acceptable?

Last summer's stand against bigotry was a heart-warming display of all that is good about Minden and Haliburton County. Let's all urge our politicians to rescind the disicriminatory "English Only" law and replace it with an equally heart-warming welcome to people of all nationalities.

Pat Brezina,
Minden.

Reader disappointed in county council's decision

Editor:

I wish to express my disappointment at the recent decision to declare Haliburton County as unilingual. So far as I can see, this was totally unnecessary. I don't agree with the argument that this move will save money in the long run, based on the expressed fear that the Provincial government may force municipalities to provide services in French.

The fact is, Canada was founded on two distinct languages and cultures, French and English. This makes us unique. We've certainly added other cultures over the years, and further enriched our identity as a multi-cultured country. But still, our origins are French and English.

Why can't we accept this? Why would a group of people decide to stir up old fires unnecessarily? If one believes in the cost factor, then what of the cost to Canada, if we lose one of our most beautiful provinces? If East Berlin can remove the wall, could we as Canadians learn to accept our cultural heritage? Could we not only include French in our pursuit of languages, but encourage other minority ethnic groups to preserve their heritage by encouraging us to learn their unique language?

The world is moving to a global economy. Let's accept our heritage, and move along with it, in a positive way.

L. Fischbach,
Minden.

Bugging their way to the top

lounging around the office. Kids these days. Honestly.

Ho hum. Another unmagical moment. The punk quartet might have been dazzling and attractive and captivating. They weren't. The record executive might have had an intuitive hunch about the kids. They didn't. The demo tape might have been a blazing work of undeniable genius. It wasn't. Three of the four top executive music producers at EMI did the marketing manager a favour by listening to it.

They all agreed that it stank.

And the fourth executive music producer? Well, he was on holiday.

So ends another non-chapter in the history of human evolution. For every great flowering of human endeavour, there must be an awful lot of seed that falls upon stony ground.

Think of the mouldering bones of all the sailors whose ships disappeared over the Western horizon before Columbus went and came back, proving it could be done.

Think of the near-misses in history — the skipper of the PT boat 108; the unsung heroes of the Charge of The Heavy Brigade; the martyrs who gave their all to take the Bridge on the River Ken.

Spare a thought for our own Gordon Lightfoot

Persistence pays off for Beatles and his perfectly good singles that never quite enjoyed the success his other records did. I'm thinking of hard-to-find numbers such as — Canadian Pathway Trilogy, The Wreck of the Edmund Fitzgerald and Black Day in Early April.

Spare a kind thought too, for Doctor Dionysys Lardner. Dr. Lardner was (and I'm not making this up) a professor of natural philosophy and astronomy at University College in London during the early 1800's. He is primarily remembered for his exquisitely argued and eminently reasonable assertions that high-speed rail travel would always be impossible, as passengers, unable to breathe, would suffocate.

The doctor also poo-pooed the possibility of any steamship ever crossing the Atlantic since it would require more coal than it could carry.

Somewhat later, a scientist by the name of Simon Newcomb harrumphed to the press that the ages-old dream of heavier-than-air flying machines was just that — a dream — "impractical and insignificant, if not utterly impossible."

Professor Newcomb made that pronouncement in 1901, about 18 months before a pair of brothers named Wilbur and Orville made famous a place called Kitty Hawk.

Ah, yes, History in her perversity, makes it easy for us to be spectacularly wrong.

Such as the schoolmaster who labelled little Tommy Edison retarded. Or the Munich schoolteacher who warned a ten-year-old student "you will never amount to very much".

A student named Albert Einstein.

Such as the musical tableau I mentioned way back at the beginning. Remember? The music moguls vs. the four louts?

Well, the louts were loutish alright — but they were also persistent. When they heard that three of the company's top music producers hated their demo tape, they didn't slink away with their tails between their legs. They insisted on playing it for the fourth music producer — the one who'd been away on holidays.

A fellow named George Martin.

And that's how the Beatles got their first record contract.

LACAC should be resurrected: Graham

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Minden's Local Architectural Conservation Advisory Committee (LACAC) was shuffled out of existence when council drew up this year's list of municipal committees, and the former chairman of LACAC would like to see it resurrected.

Verne Graham attended the last council meeting to explain the role LACAC has to play in the township and to ask for it to be reformed.

When council drew up this year's committee appointments, it had no submissions of names for LACAC, and so it was combined with the Museum Committee as a single entity.

None of the former members of LACAC, including Graham who served as chairman, sit on the museum committee.

Graham told the councillors that a minimum of five LACAC members must be appointed by a separate resolution of council in order for the committee to exist.

"It's up to council to make the decision if you want LACAC and how you want LACAC," said Graham.

The mandate of LACAC is to identify areas in the township that are worthy of conservation from the perspective of heritage. Graham said the committee advises council about such areas and also plans related progams and activities.

The committee is also involved in the planning process, said Graham, and the chairman reviews development plans and severance application to ensure that any heritage features in the township are protected.

It may appear that LACAC has been in the background recently, said Graham, because the committee has not had to advise council about any problems.

Graham apologized to council for making a presentation to the Premier's Task Force on Heritage Years, under what he called "false pretences."

Graham appeared before the Task Force in Lindsay on February 9, and made a presentation on buildings in the township which should be designated as historic sites.

When he made the presentation, Graham was acting under the assumption that he was still the chairman of LACAC. It wasn't until later that he discovered that he's not even on the committee anymore.

If council decides to appoint members to LACAC, Graham said he would be willing to serve on the committee.

Minden is the only municipality in Haliburton County with a LACAC, said Graham, and only one of three in Victoria-Haliburton. He said the province would like to see these committees maintained.

Each year the committee has received between $1,000 and $2,000 from the municipality which was placed in a reserve fund, said Graham. He said the committee will need about $5,000 to proceed with designation of historic buildings in 1990 and 1991.

The plaques used to identify historic buildings cost $1,000 each. Graham said the Bethel Church, St. Paul's Church, Minden's Clergy House and Wright House are all examples of buildings in the township which should be designated.

He said he would like to see the municipality buy the Clergy House, which is currently for sale, but at a price of $300,000 he realizes that would "stretch the budget."

Currently there are no buildings in the township which are designated as historical sites.

Graham said council can appoint someone from the museum committee to serve on LACAC if they want, but the two committees should be separate because "there is no connection."

Deputy Reeve Bern Berry said LACAC was joined with the museum committee because "they're both interested in history." But Graham said LACAC has the ability to do many things the museum committee can't with regards to preserving and recording historical sites.

He said there should be some continuity between the past LACAC and a new one so ongoing projects won't be lost. "I'd hate to see the work go to waste," he said.

Council agreed to look at the situation and if enough people are interested to bring LACAC back.

Funding woes force special ed rethinking

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The board of education is trying to find some way to continue operation of its Section 25 classroom now that Kinark is withdrawing its participation.

The class, which has been run out of J.D. Hodgson, is for children who need mental health treatment, and whose problems are severe enough to keep them out of a regular classroom.

Under an annual agreement between the school board and Kinark, the board provides a teacher and school supplies and Kinark provides child and youth workers for the treatment of the students' mental health problems.

The class has been operated under this partnership agreement since 1984 and is reviewed every year. This year Kinark director Andre Breton informed the school board that the centre would not be renewing the agreement for the 1990-91 school year.

The basis of Kinark's decision is lack of funding. The centre has been faced with a financial crisis because of an increase in demand for services without an accompanying increase in government funding.

This situation is forcing Breton to try and streamline the centre's operation to provide the most efficient service possible.

"There are more efficient and effective ways to provide service than running the day treatment program," said Breton. He said Kinark's resources would be used more effectively by running group therapy for kids and schools. He also wants to address the waiting list of families seeking help from the centre.

Kinark is not abandoning those children who are currently enrolled in the Section 25 class, said Breton. He said the centre will work with the board of education and the families of the students to ensure the best educational placement for them.

Breton says one of the themes of the Board of Education's recent review of Special Education programs is to try and get students into mainstream classrooms and not segregate them.

Committee tries to join health, social services

The steering committee studying the long-term health care needs of Haliburton County is considering ways to coordinate the wide variety of social and health services that are available.

The committee has been looking at recommendations from related studies that were conducted in the county in the past. At last week's meeting they discussed some of the recommendations dealing with the coordination of services.

One of the options discussed by the committee was the possiblity of a central agency to coordinate all health and social services.

Instead of trying to contact a different agency and organization for each of their health and social services needs, people would contact the central agency who would do an assessment and make referrals to the appropriate services.

This central agency would not actually provide any of the services itself, says health analyst Anne Gallant, but would point consumers in the right direction for their particular needs.

The concept of a single entry point into social or health services was developed by the District Health Council in 1985, says Gallant, but it is only in 1990 that the idea is being picked up again on a province-wide scale.

Currently the system is such that "it's difficult for professionals to navigate the entry system, let alone consumers," says Gallant.

Dawn Berry Merriam, a District Health Council employee who is a resource person for the steering committee, gave a presentation about the single-entry program being adopted in Peterborough.

Carole Craigmyle, who acted as committee chairman in the absence of Maureen Dikun, says a single contact for all health and social services would benefit people just moving into the area, who might not affordable housing here. Of the 54 units that are needed, Davidson says 37 would be serving those in neediest category—people with extremely low incomes.

Low incomes, high rents create shortfall

In addition to these findings for family housing, the report also identifies the need for 24 units of senior housing the Monmouth Township.

The report spells out several measures that could be pursued to solve the housing problem in the Highlands. However, Davidson says the most logical would be the creation of non-profit housing organization to oversee the construction of family housing projects similar to those built for seniors in Minden and Haliburton.

The completion of this report marks the end of the Social Action Committee as a body, says Davidson. Now that the report has been presented to county council, the committee is being disbanded. Along with Trish McCarthy, Don Lethbridge, Shelly Tompson-Schell and Harry Davis, Davidson and King have worked for the past three years on this project. And now that they have taken it to this point, the committee hopes a new group will be formed to follow through and meet the needs identified in the report.

The Municipal Housing Statement was completed by A.D. Revill Associates Limited. It follows up on an Assisted Housing Needs study done in 1988 by Gibson and Associates and takes into consideration information from the Monmouth Senior and Pre-senior housing survey.

'There is clearly no incentive to build for rent . . . unless rents are subsidized in some manner.'

The report makes note of the relatively low average income of people in this county and high housing costs.

"In 1981," the report says, "66 per cent of households in Haliburton had incomes below $20,000 and this was true for 43 per cent in all of Ontario. While the percentage of Haliburton households in this bracket had fallen to just 50 per cent by 1986, for the province as a whole it was only 28 per cent."

Contact with local realtors last year showed that housing costs and rents are beyond the financial means of some residents of this county. The "rock bottom" price of a house that could be lived in was estimated to be about $50,000 in 1989.

The report says the carrying costs even at this "rock bottom" price would be beyond the ability to pay for about 30 per cent of the population.

There is also a shortage of rental accommodations for families in the county. "Aside from the senior citizens' units with subsidized rents, rental accommodation in the county is limited to apartments over commercial properties and single detached homes for the most part. Rents ranged from a low of $350 per month to a high of $800 per month for an apartment.

"It is clear . . . that the rental market is so thin that there is no very well defined price range," the report says.

The shortage of rental facilities is unlikely to improve unless units are provided under a non-profit program or rents are subsidized, the report says.

Without some form of subsidy, developers would be reluctant to build new rental facilities in the county. Developers couldn't hope to recover the cost of their investment unless they were to charge rents of at least $732, which is out of reach for many residents.

"There is clearly no incentive to build for rent under these conditions unless rents are subsidized in some manner."

Areas that weren't sufficiently addressed in this report include emergency housing and housing for youths, said Davidson. He said these groups are difficult to track and more research is needed to identify the need.

Twenty four people indicated in the survey that they knew of persons requiring emergency shelter but no one recorded their own need for shelter. "This could reflect the fact that respondents doubted the confidentiality of the survey or the fact that those who do require the service do in fact leave the community," the report concludes.

Davidson says there is also a need for shelter for youths that could not be traced in this survey. Social Services case workers are finding youths with needs, he said. "They're out there surviving, but how well? Are they employed? Are they in school?"

The report says the need for emergency shelter for youths has not been clearly documented. A pilot project in Minden and Haliburton villages would be the best way to assess the actual demand, the report says. It is unlikely that further study would add much to the data.

The problems identified by this report need addressing, said Davidson. Now that the needs have been identified, his committee hopes the report is not shelved. Someone has to pick up the ball and run with it, he said.

After presenting the report to county council, he said he senses council is not interested in getting involved. The county has a number of other important issues that need addressing the near future, added.

Davidson says he is willing to talk about this issue with service organizations or anyone interested in addressing the needs. "I'd like to see a community group come together as a board to say 'yes we want some housing.' "

New speeding fines in effect

Ontario Transportation Minister William Wrye announced that higher fines for speeding offences go into effect March 1.

"The new fines demonstrate our commitment to crack down on those drivers who deliberately risk the safety of others by exceeding posted speed limits," Wrye said.

Wyre added that the increased fines "will hit speeders where it hurts—in the pocketbook—making it a costly proposition to willfully exceed the speed limit."

Under the new schedule, maximum fines will triple at the top end of the scale. For example, those convicted of driving 60 km over the speed limit could pay $585, up from $195 under the existing schedule. A conviction for driving 15 km above the posted limit will cost as much as $45, instead of $18.75.

"The higher fines will restore the deterrent value eroded by two decades of inflation since the last increase," Wrye said.

Thresholds at which different fine levels take effect have also been adjusted downwards to encourage safer driving.

Following are the current and new fine schedules:

Existing speeding fine schedule:

1-19 km/h over - $1.25 km/h
20-39 km/h over - $1.75 km/h
40-59 km/h over - $2.50 km/h
60 or more km/h over - $3.25 km/h

Starting Thursday, March 1:

1-19 km/h over - $3.00 km/h
20-34 km/h over - $4.50 km/h
35-49 km/h over - $7.00
50 or more km/h over - $9.75 km/h

These are the maximum fines that can be levied if the offender appears in court.

Chief Judge Frederick Hayes of the Provincial Court has set a separate schedule of fines for offenders choosing to pay the fine without a court appearance. They will be assessed:

1-19 km/h over - $2.50 km/h
20-34 km/h over - $3.75
35-49 km/h over - $6.00 km/h

Out of court payment is not allowed for offences of more than 50 km/h over the limit.

Tri-county tournament 'best one of the year'

Editor:

As coaches of the Tri-County Pee Wees and Tri-County Atoms, Barry Smith and myself would like to thank all the parents and players for making our tournament a success.

I was told on both days by several visitors that this was the best tournament they had been to this year. It really shows what can happen when everyone works together.

It was a family event, with everyone helping. The "hockey moms" should be congratulated for the excellent meal and snacks they provided for the teams. They spent many hours in organization and preparation before the tournament even began, as well as working long hours on the weekend. The dads, brothers and sisters and team members all pitched in wherever help was needed, running the time clock, organizing M.V.P. selections, taking tickets and helping in the auditorium and kitchen.

All in all it was a very successful weekend and we thank you all.

Jim Todd,
Coach, Tri-County Atoms.

Short term housing suggested for seniors know were to go to get the different services they may need.

Gallant says the concept doesn't require all the services to be housed in a single building, as long as the different agencies work together "philosophically."

In Peterborough the system is working in two parts. One for the coordination of community services and one for placement in institutions.

The committee also began looking at the issue of housing in the county. They talked about housing needs in the area, especially suitable accommodations for seniors.

Gallant says there is a gap between independent apartments, like those offered at the Staanworth buildings, and placement in institutions like Hyland Crest. She says there is a need for housing that will let people stay in their independent apartments, but also have meals and laundry services available.

Instead of another set of apartments for fully independent seniors, Craigmyle says there is a need to house people who don't need institutions but who need some support services.

Another housing solution considered by the committee involved finding accommodations for seniors who are self-sufficient, but who may not be able to maintain a home during the winter months.

Many seniors retire to Haliburton County and move into converted cottages, says Gallant. And although they may be fine from spring to autumn, some can't cope with winter's ice and snow.

They discussed the need for short-term accommodations which can be rented on a monthly basis to meet the requirements of these seniors.

The committee will be discussing the housing issue more next meeting when they hear a presentation from James Douglas, a representative from the Ministry of Housing who is responsible for non-profit housing projects in the county.

Craigmyle says the committee is also going to try and incorporate the findings of the recently released municipal housing survey.

Students start phone campaign

Students at Archie Stouffer Elementary are preparing to take on Ma Bell.

With the support of the board of education, Grade 5 students Matthew Hamilton and Bryn Gray are mounting a campaign to have a pay telephone installed at their school.

The only stumbing block to their plan is a Bell Telephone policy that says the company doesn't install pay phones in elementary schools.

Hamilton and Gray approached the trustees at last Tuesday's meeting to ask for their support.

The students phoned Bell and were told that the installation of the phone would cost $96.81 and that students would have to pay the difference if the phone didn't collect 78 cents a day.

Archie Stouffer's student council has agreed to cover the cost of installation and also to pay the difference if the phone does not collect the daily minimum.

During the summer holidays the phone will not receive frequent use, and Hamilton and Gray calculated that the school will have to pay $56.16 to cover the shortfall during those months. The student council feels that this is inexpensive for the service it will provide.

The high school has a pay phone outside the main office and Gray and Hamilton contacted vice-principal Gary Brohman to find out what his experiences with the phone have been.

Brohman told the boys that in the 20 years the high school has had the pay phone, there have no problems other than normal maintenance.

Now Hamilton and Gray have to try and convince the telephone company to change its policy with regard to the placement of pay phones in elementary schools. They feel that the support of the board of education will improve their chances.

In outlining the advantages to having a pay phone in the school, Gray and Hamilton said students will be able to phone home when needed without tying up one of the two office lines.

A pay phone could also be used by the various activity groups who use the school building after hours, when no other phone is accessible.

The two students also identified possible minor problems that could result from having a pay phone. They said there will have to be a time limit on how long one student can spend on the phone and younger students may not have a quarter to pay for calls.

Since students usually make phone calls on behalf of younger students, Gray and Hamilton didn't feel the latter would present much of a problem.

New agency needed for class

Section 25 class, Breton said some of them can cope in a mainsteam classroom if they have the additional support of an educational assistant and some regular mental health treatment.

By not running the class next year, Kinark will save the $100,000 it costs the centre to provide its services. The costs incurred by the board of education are funded 100 per cent by the Ministry of Education.

Superintendent of Education Dale Robinson, brought the situation to the school board's attention at last week's meeting. He told the trustees that he is actively seeking another agency to participate with the board in running the classroom.

If the board tries to run the class on its own, Robinson said they will have to bear the costs of the operation without ministry funding.

Breton says the money saved by discontinuing Kinark's participation in the class will be used to provide more family-oriented services.

Robinson says the board hopes to have its plans regarding the future of the class settled by March 15.

More funds allow Kinark to hire specialist

Due to an increase in government funding, Kinark Child and Family Services has been able to hire a full-time psychometrist for its Haliburton office.

A psychometrist is someone who administers psychological tests which assess a client's intelligence, special abilities and disabilities, vocational aptitudes or personality characteristics.

The person is also involved in individual and family counselling.

Kinark director Andre Breton says that being able to upgrade the position from part-time to full-time is "good news."

Until, October 1988, Kinark employed a part-time psychometrist, and Breton says that situation worked well because it fit both the centre's needs and the needs of the psychometrist.

However, when the part-time psychometrist moved, Breton says Kinark had trouble finding someone willing to move to Haliburton to take a part-time position.

Breton says he had to advertise for the postion twice, because the first attempts did not turn up any suitable applicants willing to do the job on a part-time basis.

After the second advertisement, Breton informed the Ministry of Social and Community Services that he had found someone to fill the position, but only on a full-time basis, and he asked for funding to upgrade the position.

He did not receive an immediate response from the ministry, but hired Karoul Talaba on a full-time basis anyway because he "didn't want to let her get away."

After negotiations with the centre, the ministry decided it would give Kinark the difference between the part-time and full-time salary.

"We would have had a great deal of difficulty doing without it," said Breton. He says the tests conducted by Talaba are an important part of the client assessment process and, although not every child requires the testing, "for those who need it, it's really valuable."

Two members of the Highland District Girl Guides received their All Round Cords at a special ceremoney held at St. Paul's Church in Minden last Saturday night. Amanda Stephonson, left, and Meaghan Obee, right, were honoured by friends, family and guests. Minden Skaters regain interclub championship

The Minden Skating Club had great representation at the annual Kawartha-Highlands Interclub Competition which was held on Sunday, February 25 in Bancroft.

This competition consists of seven area clubs who choose which of their skaters will compete. The clubs involved are: Apsley, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Haliburton, Lakefield, Lindsay, and Minden.

Minden had an outstanding contingent with 21 skaters, including Canskate, Canfigureskate and Test Program. Though it was a long day for everyone (7:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.), Minden had the loudest and best cheering section of all the clubs attending.

The results are as follows:

Canskate "A" Ladies (top 3 to finals):
Flight 1: Katrina Matysek - 4th, Brandi Hewson - 7th.
Flight 2: Keri Hartwick - 3rd, Final - 6th.

Canskate "B" Ladies:
Jessica Berry - 7th, Stacey Walker - 12th, Sara Ladurantaye - 6th.

Canfigureskate Ladies:
Julie Vanderlip - 3rd.

Canskate Men:
Daniel Howell - 1st, Tristan Pawluch - 2nd.

Pre-Preliminary Ladies:
Sarah Brohm - 4th, Louise Howell - 7th.

Preliminary Ladies (top 2 to finals):
Flight 1: Kyla Grexton - 3rd.
Flight 2: Lisa Ranson - 2nd, Final - 5th.
Flight 3: Jody Reid - 6th.

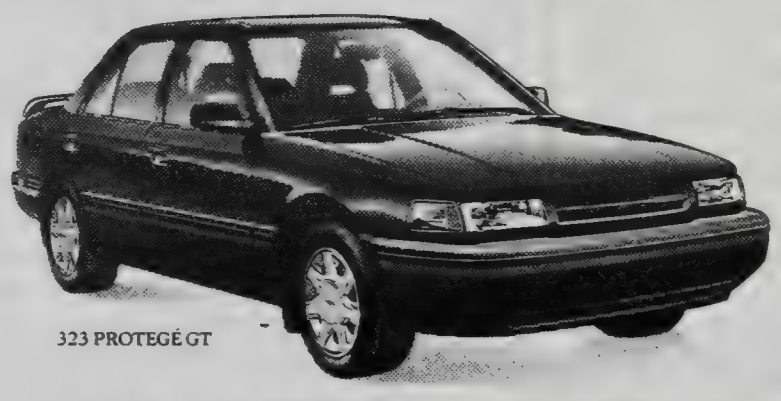
MAZDA 323 PROTEGÉ
THE 323 PROTEGÉ



323 PROTEGÉ GT
THE MAZDA YOU CAN FEEL JUST RIGHT ABOUT.
The all new Mazda 323 Protegé has a longer wheelbase and wider track than anything else in its class. So behind the wheel you'll enjoy big car roominess as the perfectly padded front bucket seats cradle you in luxurious comfort. Mazda's Kansei Engineering has produced a total rethink of what a car should be. A Protegé has the feel of a much larger car. With its interior appointments that rival cars costing twice as much. Plus there's power to spare from either a smooth 103 hp SOHC or 125 hp DOHC 16 valve in-line 4 cylinder engine, with advanced electronically-controlled fuel injection. Formula Magazine described 323 Protegé this way. "Intrinsic value and substance are unquestionably superior, likely the best in the class."
Come drive one today. It'll feel just right!
THE 323 PROTEGÉ LX GIVES YOU ALL THIS PLUS THE BEST WARRANTY IN THE BUSINESS.
• 1.8 SOHC 16 valve 4 cylinder engine with multi-port electronic fuel injection.
• Cruise control.
• Engine speed sensing steering.
• 60/40 split fold down rear seat back.
• Velour upholstery.
• Centre console.
• Tilt steering column.
• And much more.

Each year a club trophy is awarded to the club accumulating the most points. Points are awarded for each entry and also for first, second and third placings. We are proud to announce that for the third year in a row, Minden earned this prestigious trophy. Congratulations to all the skaters and coaches who work so hard to achieve this status.

Minden Skaters put in outstanding performances again this year at the Inter-club competition. Great support for projects

For Your Service

I would like to say hello and a great big thank you from the Minden Lioness Club for your support over the past year and trust you will continue to support our projects in the coming months.

The ladies have been busy raising money this year with Ride for Sight, Auction Tea, Flea Market, Bed Pan Blitz, Draw Tickets, Food Booth at Sled Dog Derby. We have been helping Lions collect eyeglasses, sell cakes, hockey tickets and serving their dinners. We are also selling Lioness Cook Books and during February have been canvassing for the Heart and Stroke Foundation and we will be assisting Lions in selling Easter Bunnies.

Donations have been given to Minden Hospital Equipment, the Building Fund, Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Bus Fund, serving of two birthday teas, showing Monday movies and goodies at Christmas as well. Others to benefit are Five Counties Children's Centre, Wish Foundation, Trach Ward and Neuro-surgery at Hospital for Sick Children, C.N.I.B. Hearing Ear Dog, Diabetes Foundation, Lung Association, Easter Seals, Sleeping Children.

We had a good time helping the Lions successful Santa Claus Parade. Many of us have accompanied the District President Janet Readman, a member of Minden Lioness, on her visits to others of the 17 clubs in the region which was well worth time and expense involved to ourselves. As were District functions and meetings where you see what can be done when a group such as Lioness band together.

Upcoming is our Shamrock Brunch in Whitby at which we will have people from outside the district as well. The District Convention is taking place in Newmarket for Lions and Lioness the end of April. We hope to have a draw coming up soon and also remember the garage sale at Hyland Crest.

The new District A16 pin was designed by our president Lioness Ena Marion so Minden will be at top of names on it. We are very proud of all our Lioness for what they have accomplished this year and we hope if there is anyone out there interested in finding out more of our club, don't hesitate to contact the club, Box 181, Minden, if you don't know a Lioness personally.

Novices end first year with 10 wins

by Mel Flood

Minden OMHA novices have completed their first year under the OMHA system. I am pleased to report it was a good year. In league play the boys finished with a record of 10 wins, 6 losses, 4 ties.

In the round robin play-offs our record was 3 wins, 3 losses, 1 tie, with one game cancelled, to finish out of further play-off series. Since completing the play-offs we have played one exhibition game with Omemee and lost 3 - 0.

Saturday, February 24 the team was invited to play in the Minden Atoms Tri-County tournament, due to a cancellation by one of the teams. This was a real challenge for the boys as this is the next age level above them.

Our first challenge was to overcome the loss of Danny Jordan, who broke his leg in three places in our last play-off game. Danny was on the bench for every game to cheer us on.

In our first game we played a team from Lindsay. We just got on the ice and Chris Little came down with the flu and was unable to play. Ryan Anderson opened the scoring for Minden, unassisted. Chris Kerr scored our second goal, assisted by Chris Neilsen, to give Minden a 2 - 0 lead. Lindsay scored three unanswered goals to win the game 3 - 2. MVP for Minden was Clay Davis.

In game two we played a team from Ennismore. Philip Daniels opened the scoring, assisted by Ryan Anderson in the first period. Ryan Anderson closed out the scoring in the third period, unassisted, giving Minden a 2 - 0 win to advance to the "B" Championship game. MVP for Minden was Ryan Anderson.

Despite playing the older Atoms, the Minden OMHA Novices shut out the team from Ennismore 2-0 to advance to the 'B' Championship in a tournament hosted by the Minden Tri-County Atoms. Minden goalie Shane Flood stumped the Ennismore shooters with some strong support from his defence.

In the "B" Championship game we played a team from Gravenhurst. The flu bug hit again, as Danny Vanderlip was ill and unable to play.

Our goalie Shane Flood felt ill in the first period, but continued to play. Gravenhurst scored the first two goals. Minden came right back on a goal by Philip Daniels, unassisted. Nicholas Kulas tied the score at two, assisted by Ryan Anderson. Gravenhurst took a 4 - 2 lead into the third period.

With goalie Shane Flood out for an extra attacker, Gravenhurst scored an empty net goal with one second remaining. Final score 5 - 2 for Gravenhurst. MVP for Minden was Shane Flood.

Boys, you made the coaches and your parents very proud of your outstanding performance for the tournament.

Westside and Hartwick lead hockey league playoffs

Westside and Hartwick have pulled ahead of the pack in Minden Men's Recreational Hockey League playoffs, each sporting a record of three wins and no losses.

With just two games left in the round-robin series, these teams are looking like the strong favourites to advance to the finals. Another win will guarantee their berth in the finals.

Stamp Fuels, the Rockcliffe and Home Hardware are all two games back of the leaders with just one win to their credit. These teams have to win the rest of their games and hope the leaders will falter in order to have a shot at advancing.

With no wins to their credit, The Times is already out of contention.

In last Monday's action at the Minden arena, Westside edged the Rockcliffe 4-3 in the opening game to earn their first win of the playoffs. Bernie Upton scored twice for the winners while Kim Hamilton and Ben Manuge added one each. Dave Hartwick, John Ballantyne, Dave Hartwick and Colin Newell did the scoring for the Rockcliffe.

With hat-tricks from Kevin Hamilton and Brian Shaw, Hartwick thumped Home 11-4 in the second game of the night to preserve their perfect record. Larry Sawyer and Jeff Howe added two goals each to the win and Billy Whittaker scored one. Barry Boice racked up three of Home's goals and the fourth came from Scott Hamilton.

It was 'over and out' for The Times as they received the 10-4 message from Stamp Fuels in the final game of the night. This was the third loss for The Times, erasing any hopes they had of advancing to the finals. It was also the first playoff win for Stamp Fuels, the team that led the league for the entire season.

Craig Crowe chalked up three goals for the winners. Barry Walker and Greg Newell scored two each while singles came from Greg Carpenter and Lawrence Lougheed. Ivan Ingram scored two of The Times' goals and Eldon Bull added the third.

In the previous week's action, Hartwick edged the Rockcliffe 5-3, Westside downed Stamp Fuels 8-5, and Home defeated The Times 7-2.

The fourth week of round-robin play is slated for tonight at the Minden arena, beginning at 7 p.m.

Atoms start playoff action with bang

There's been a lot of activity lately for the Atom Tri-County team and now it's time to catch up on the details.

With playoffs starting, we found ourselves playing the best three out of five against Bobcaygeon.

Game 1 gave Minden home ice and a 4-0 victory. Goals credited to Adam Carpenter and Donald

Bobcaygeon loses 3 games to Minden

Todd (doubles each) and assists to Rob Camelon, Sheamus Donnery and Nathan Stephenson.

Inclement weather held the next game off an extra week but travel was worth it for a 7-0 victory this time. Sorry boys, I have no credits as the 'Caygeon coach never bothered with a game sheet for us.

With the third game ending in a 1-1 tie, we were off again to Bobcaygeon to finally put an end to this. Goals are credited to Gavin Gartshore, Raymon Ranson, Donald Todd, and Sheamus Donnery (double). Assists to Chuck Hopkins (double) and Donald Todd (triple). Final score 5-0.

The boys' home tournament started the next day and they were on the ice at 9 a.m. against Wilberforce. Feeling the effects of early morning rising, Wilberforce took advantage and claimed a 3-1 victory with Minden's goal by Sheamus Donnery from Adam Carpenter and Nathan Stephenson.

This gave the boys quite a rest and at 1 p.m. they played their second game against Gravenhurst.

Both teams seemed evenly matched and provided good hockey but with 1:48 left in the third, Gravenhurst found the spot and buried the winning goal.

This put Minden in league for the "C" Championship and back on the ice at 3:30 p.m. this time against Ennismore.

This game ended in a 6-1 victory for Minden with goals going to Nathan Stephenson, double to Donald Todd, Sheamus Donnery, Raymond Ranson and Ben Ripley. Assists to Rob Camelon and Nathan Stephenson.

MVP's for the three games were Donald Todd, Ben Ripley, and Raymond Ranson.

Sunday we were back at the arena early to cater to the Pee Wee tournament and enjoy another fine day of hockey. Our next move now is to concentrate on Beaverton as they are the next team to play against in the league playoffs.

Vrooom!!

Members of Minden's Cub pack brought home the hardware from a Cub Car Rally held in Peterborough on Feb. 17. From left, Luke Cameron placed 1st in the B division, Blair Johnson placed 2nd in the C division and Glen McGuire placed 2nd in the F division. Pack Leader Brian Johnshon was a finalist in the Leader competition.

Minor softball plans 1st season

Minden's newly-formed minor softball league is preparing for its first season on the diamonds.

A special meeting for coaches and officials is scheduled for March 10 at 2:30 p.m. at the Lochlin schoolhouse. Anyone interested in coaching or helping out with the league this summer is encouraged to attend this meeting.

This summer will be the first time that organized minor softball will be available in Minden and organizers are optimistic that there will be a good response from area players.

In preparation for the coming season, several coaches attended a recent clinic in St. Catharines, where they shared ideas and picked up valuable information to help them teach baseball skills to area kids.

A date for registration is yet to be set.

Bradamore likes his new 'flipper' nickname

Editor:

In regards to the February 14 article in The Times: Developer accused of Flipping Land. The developer likes being called flipper and feels it's good for business.

I would like to let Bern Berry know that I always wanted a nickname and if he feels flipper is appropriate, feel free to call me that, because it is good for business. I realize it will be difficult for a pessimistic person to understand this, but I am an optimistic person and I am sure all optimistic people out there will agree with me.

I wouldn't necessarily call a person a Land Flipper who sold property to his friend Bruce Harris. By the way, his company still owns it and it has not changed hands several times. Please get your facts straight. The property was not listed by my wife or me, we just sold it to a friend who wanted to do a development, but is reluctant to do so now because of the hassles I have experienced. I'm not preventing development, but we all know who is.

The other property was not listed for sale by my wife or myself and Doug Johnson, a friend, approached us to purchase the property in the second excavation across from McKnight Drive. He did transfer title to another mutual friend so they could do a joint venture and it has received Site Plan approval in principal at a council meeting prior to the article being written that said, none of the properties show any signs of development proceedings. That is an out and out lie. All I ask is to tell the truth. The blueprints were beautiful and it will be an asset to the community.

They have recently seen my proposal for my plaza because I want to follow through with my original idea. I know it may be hard to understand by a person who has never done anything like this before in his life and we won't mention any names.

As far as who holds mortgages on my properties or my wife's property, they are straight-forward, honest business people and I am sure they would give you a mortgage if you are good for the money.

Another fact that misleads the public is that my wife and I are responsible for three excavations on the Bobcaygeon Road. Bruce Harris hired Larry Hughes who owns a good trucking company to excavate his site and Doug Johnson hired Larry Hughes to excavate his site. My wife did not engage anybody on any excavation. However, I am responsible for the excavation in front of my house and office on Bobcaygeon Road being done by Larry Hughes and I have submitted my blueprints and the Site Plan is on its way. I call this progress; the problem appears to me that some people cannot keep up with the changes and are being left behind. This type of development was enjoyed by a slim few in the past but now the general public know they are all entitled to do this as well. I personally feel we took a site that was overburdened with brush and an old unsafe house and turned it into three potential commercial lots that probably would have been built on by now if they hadn't seen the boots being put to me. Who would you blame for this? Do you want to get into bed and do business with these people or would you divorce yourself from the situation and cut your losses?

The second excavation was overgrown with brush and was turned into a potential Commercial Lot and will have a beautiful building on it soon, if Doug Johnson and Ted Reid are not hassled to death over a Site Plan agreement and restrictions imposed that make it impractical to accomplish.

The third excavation is mine and I am proud to say something good is coming to Minden and I am part of it. I am going to prove to the people of Minden that everything I said would happen is true and that the sites are professionally done so that after the next Municipal Election I will be sitting in Berry's chair and I will aid and promote development in our area to anyone that asks for assistance. I won't promise an industrial park, I will create one supposing I have to do it myself. All the development that I have proposed complies with the official plan which was approved by the fathers of the community in 1985 so it should not be a surprise if council knows how to read and interpret the official plan for Anson, Hindon and Minden. I am sure council did not check with a lawyer to see if two PAC members have a pecuniary interest in the proposal because you would find that anyone living within 400' of the development has a pecuniary interest which means under the Funk & Wagnalls dictionary: 1. Consisting of or relation to money; 2. Having a monetary penalty. Observation: 1. They are paid for these meetings; 2. It possibly could effect the enjoyment of their residential dwellings in a commercial zone under the official plan; 3. It could effect the value of their property either up or down; 4. They insisted it not be a used car lot.

And if council doesn't think they have a conflict of interest, I guess I will have to prove otherwise.

Also in relation to Anson, Hindon and Minden employers. When I worked for municipalities, I extended people the courtesy of making a bad situation good before I sent them a letter and I did not get the Road Superintendent to do a job that was the responsibility of the By-Law Enforcement Officer. Would one suspect the Road Superintendent enjoyed what he was doing?

I don't believe there were complaints for one minute. I believe it was an inside job that no one wants to take the credit for because they look like the kid that got his hand caught in the cookie jar.

Berry hinted that after reviewing reports from lawyers, planners, our By-Law Officer, our Official Plan and our Planning Advisory Committee minutes and comments from its members, that in order to protect the citizens of Anson, Hindon and Minden and ensure the village atmosphere, we should encourage 'Proper Development' he said. I suspect this is a prefabrication in his own mind because I never received any copies of any reports so I could address any concerns they may have.

No one objects to standard procedures, however one does get hyper-ventilated when the rules change after the game is started, especially when they are unwritten rules.

As far as the so-called scars are concerned, one would know if they did not live a sheltered life or saw many excavation sites, that these are no different than any other preparation of a site getting ready for construction and would only be recognized by individuals, as scars, by people who don't know what to do with a project of this calibre. I rest my case.

I would like to thank Councillor Lewis Stevens for bringing my proposal into focus with the topic of discussion and Mike Maher and Bob Sisson agreeing with him. Most people could see it was, in my opinion, a deliberate attempt by the Deputy Reeve, Bern Berry, not to resolve the issue or try to come to some conclusion. I believe it has become quite personal between Bern Berry and myself so I am putting him on notice that I believe the taxpayers deserve better than him and would be better off not listening to him. I will submit a challenge to him in the next municipal election and will run against him for any position he thinks he has the nerve to run for because I am an optimistic person.

Bradley Bradamore,
Minden.

'Marigolds' shows other side of local theatre talent

Moody.

Intense.

Daring.

Definitely a departure from the regular fare.

Outstanding.

The Highlands Little Theatre dared to break away from its usual menu of light farcical entrees that have been the staple and safe servings over the past 10 years. It was a bold step and it worked.

The company's latest production, Paul Zindel's The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-In-The-Moon Marigolds presented March 1, 2 and 3, has shown just how far the group has come and the depth of talent that has developed during the decade.

Under the direction of Nancy Robicaud, the play is a snapshot of the life of a shattered family attempting to come to grips with reality. The attempt fails--the portrayal succeeds and the audience wins.

Heather Scully led the five member cast as the alcoholic mother who, with the help of the bottle, relives the triumphs of her past and fabricates grandiose schemes for the future of her father-less family. In her search for her own identity, she savages the lives of her two children, played by Erin Lynch and Sarah Stouffer, by alternately building their confidence then destroying them with biting sarcasm and cruel retribution. Scully adroitly captured the split personality of this haunted woman. One scene in particular, when the character's loving persona emerges was especially touching. Comforting one of her daughters who has been awakened by a nightmare in the middle of a raging thunderstorm, she cradles the frightened child and recounts her own special dream. As she rocks her child back to security, she related the comforting tale and sweeps the audience back to those special, quiet moments warmly recalled from childhood.

From a tender loving mother to a drunken, vindictive bitch, Scully's performance was devastatingly accurate in this demanding role. The audience was left feeling equally angry and sympathetic for the tormented woman.

The two daughters, drawn from the HHSS Drama Club performed well under this emotional script. Erin Lynch as Tillie, the quiet shy girl, whose winning science project with marigolds gives the play its title, handled her role well. Withdrawn, because of the violent mood swings of her mother, Lynch portrayed Tillie as a quietly desperate child waiting for her chance to emerge from the shadow of her mother. Her sister Ruth, played by Sarah Stouffer, learned only too well to mimic the lessons of life as taught by her mother. Both young actresses handled their characters with understanding and sympathy.

The raging household has also taken in an aging woman as a boarder. Debra Dart played the feeble woman caught in this malestrom. Without a line of dialogue, she shuffles through the play as a lightning rod for Scully's abuse and rage. Her sad, numbed face spoke volumes as she traced the fury around her with her eyes. Without a line, it was perhaps Dart's most challenging role and she brought it off perfectly.

Also appearing in a cameo role was high school student Catya Hynard who made a brief appearance as a science fair contestant. Her ernest presentation of a somewhat ludicrous science project was ably handled and provided a humourous counterpoint to the heavy mood throughout the remainder of the play.

If Marigolds suffered in one area it was in pacing. Scene changes, always a problem with the limited stage facilities, took too long and broke the emotional link the audience was building with the story. As well, there were moments during the play when the action and dialogue would have benefitted from a more clipped pace.

Kudos to the sound and special effects staff. These elements worked well this time out. And, it is encouraging to see the effort that was put into the set, proving that all plays need not unfold against flat walls.

Over-all, the director, cast and crew deserve full marks for daring to break away from the usual light fare, and doing so successfully.

Gravenhurst wins pee wee tourney

On February 25 the Minden Pee Wee's hosted a tournament which included teams from Oakwood, Woodville, Beaverton, Haliburton, Manvers, Gravenhurst and Burks Falls.

Gravenhurst won the tournament with Woodville taking second place, final score Gravehurst 6, Woodville 2.

I would like to give special thanks to our coach Barry Smith for organizing the tournament and to all the mothers who kept everyone happy with their culinary skills and pleasant smiles. Afterall, when people talk about past tournaments, it has been my limited experience that what is talked about most are not games won or lost but what was served and the manner in which they were taken care of and this is credited to the mothers.

Just as important, and without their support, tournaments could not be as successful are the businesses that contribute generously.

Now some highlights of how our Pee Wee's played.

Minden's first game was plaed with Oakwood. Minden scored the first goal during the first period. Jarrett "Flash" Campbell scored assisted by Aaron Tomlinson.

Entering the second period the score was 1-0 for Minden, when at 2:04 Anthony Mestroni scored, assisted by Scott Bailey and Andrew Crego.

During the third period, Oakwood scored two goals which meant we would enter sudden death overtime. Scoring the winning goal for Minden was Jeremy Magee, assisted by David Short.

The final score was Minden 3, Oakwood 2. The MVP award for Minden went to Aaron Tomlinson.

Minden's second game was with Woodville. Woodville won 4-2.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Ontario Hydro would like to share its thoughts on tomorrow's electricity needs

And we invite you to give us yours.

Over the years Ontario's appetite for electricity has been steadily growing. Within the next ten years, we face the very real possibility that demand may outstrip our available supply.

That's why Ontario Hydro has introduced "Providing The Balance of Power" a proposal that looks at how we can make the best possible use of all our existing resources, examines the possibilities of purchasing electricity from our neighbours, discusses the need for new generation and suggests why wise energy use at home, in factories and in the office is essential. It sets out the issues that will affect all our energy futures in the years ahead.

You're invited to discuss Providing the Balance of Power at the Ontario Hydro Information Centre.

We need your views— we need your feedback.

Staff at the Information Centre are there, not only to explain the proposal, but more importantly to listen to your ideas and views on the future...and record your suggestions.

You will receive a questionnaire which can be filled out at the Information Centre, or, if you'd prefer, mailed from home later on. And you'll also receive a copy of a comprehensive 52 page book that explains the proposal.

Your feedback is an important part of the process in meeting tomorrow's energy needs.

Local firefighters help battle Tyre King fire

'Teamwork, co-operation and the brave efforts of the fire team' added up to success.

Three local men were among the 40 Ministry of Natural Resources firefighters involved in the successful effort to help extinguish the huge tire fire near Hagersville.

Gary Lee, Dave Brown and Bill Ohlman, from the ministry's fire centre base in Haliburton, joined the assault on this massive fire and helped bring it under control by early last week.

Natural Resources Minister Lyn McLeod congratulated her ministry's forest firefighting team on their efforts in this assault.

"The fire was put out as a result of teamwork, co-operation and the brave efforts of the fire team." said the minister. "I'm very proud that MNR firefighters were part of it.

"Thge Hagersville fire was a completely new, unfamiliar and unique emergency. The fire crews had to contend with harsh smoke and severe weather conditions," said McLeod. "Yet they succeeded in putting out this fire a lot sooner than anyone expected."

The ministry contingent included 40 firefighters—30 who joined the initial assault on the blaze and 10 additional firefighters who were brought in last week. The ministry also provided six pilots and engineers in three CL-315 waterbombers and several communications and support staff.

On February 21, the ministry firefighters joined local volunteers who had been battling the fire since it broke out on February 12. The local firefighters remained at the site to ensure a steady water supply for the suppression effort.

All the ministry firefighters had previous experience in municipal firefighting and all were trained in the use of special equipment and the handling of hazardous waste prior to being assigned to this fire.

"Our suppression strategy was to take this fire apart piece by piece, tire by tire and completely douse it," said Fred Bruin, the ministry's fire boss at the Hagersville site.

"More than 50 MNR firefighters volunteered for duty at Hagersville even though only 30 staff were initially required," McLeod noted. "I think that speaks volumes about the dedication and commitment of our firefighting people," she said.

A joint response team, comprised of representatives from the Haldiman-Norfolk Region, the Fire Marshal's Office, the Ministry of the Solicitor General, the Ministry of Environment, the Ministry of Health and local health officials co-ordinated efforts at the fire site. The MNR team was dispatched at the request of this joint response team.

'Finger lickin' good' lunch served to seniors

Senior League

by Winnifred Barnum

Winter is still with us.

Thursday the ladies from Eagle Lake Community Church came with our tea party. Since it was the last Thursday in February, it was the Birthday Tea so as well as the lunch they brought a delicious birthday cake which everyone enjoyed immensely. Those having birthdays in February were Ruby Lewis and Marjorie Shuyler. Stella Stinson also had a birthday in February but she was on vacation. Lorraine Hutchinson played a few selections on the piano which were beautiful, and I am very sorry I didn't mention her playing when I thanked the other ladies for the Residents. They appreciated the music very much. Thank you Lorraine.

The happy hour was held in the auditorium Friday afternoon. Volunteers for happy hour were Don and Ellen Holden, Mary Guillemin and Melvin Robertson. The entertainment was by Bill Payne, Eldon Deacon, George Smith and Charlie Hadley with Doris at the piano. The group sang and Doris sang a song by requrest. The residents and their friends that everyone.

Friday night the Grandfathers Four came to the main lounge to entertain us. They were Bill Payne, Eldon Deacon and Charlie Hadley who played the bass fiddle and the mandolin. George Smith who comes from Oshawa went home after happy hour because of the weather. The residents really enjoyed the songs and music. We thank them sincerely for the entertainment and they never disappoint us.

Hyland Crest has a new resident, Reg Booth. Welcome to Hyland Crest and we hope you will be happy here.

In case some of you who read my column missed February 8-14, 1990, I announced Hyland Crest is having a spring flea market in the front parking lot May 19, 1990, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., rain or shine. When you do your cleaning up in the spring we would appreciate anything you are throwing away, that would be sellable, please save it for Hyland Crest for our Bus Fund. You may obtain further information by calling the following: York and Ena Marion 286-1914, Mary Guillemin 286-5168, Don and Ellen Holden 286-2488.

Monday the Maureen Comfort Clothing were here from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. selling ladies and men's clothing in the auditorium . Linda and Doris were very helpful in choosing what we required. I believe they had a successful day.

Our condolences are extended to the family and friends of Tryphina Jenkins who passed away Sunday, February 25, 1990, she was in her 100th year.

It is good to see Stella Stinson back again after spending a happy vacation in California, U.S.A.

Ruby Lewis had her daughter May Cooper to visit her Sunday. They attended Chapel service together.

Rev. John Burgess had the chapel service Sunday night and Alice Jones was with us again to play the organ. It is a great help to everyone and we thank Rev. Burgess and Alice.

Several of our Minden figure skaters went to Bancroft to a figure skating tournament and brought home the trophy. The first time in five years. Some of the skaters have relatives in Hyland Crest.

Monday Evelyn Coleman came for bible study. We are studying the women of the bible. We talked about the five daughters of Zelophehad who won a court decision entitling a man's daughter to inherit his property if he had no sons. This case is still referred to in todays courts.

Rehob who proved her faith in God by protecting Joshua's men when the walls of Jericho fell.

Deborah, the only woman in the bible who was placed at the height of political power by the common consent of the people. Thank you Evelyn for explaining these women to us.

Monday evening Allan Rice came to show us movies. The movies were "Brooms of Mexico" and "Fiddlers of James Bay". We thank Allan very much.

Tuesday chapel service was given by Evelyn Coleman. It was a wonderful service. Rev. Dawn Gilby was scheduled to take the service but she was not able because of her husband's illness. Thank you Evelyn for taking the service for her. Evelyn is a member of the Zion United Church in Carnarvon.

Tuesday being Shrove Tuesday, first day of lent, we had pancakes for our lunch.

Wednesday was Finger Licking Good Day. Doris and Linda ordered our preference from General Lee's. We had our lunch in the auditorium and Mark's staff served us beverages and ice cream cones for dessert. We had a short sing song when lunch was over.

Tuesday afternoon in the auditorium we had tea to welcome our new residents to Hyland Crest. The heads of staff, residents Council Executive and the Administrator welcomed Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Fry, Mrs. Elfriede Brandt, Mrs. Vera Archer and Mr. Reg Booth and explained the duties of each office and how we could help them adjust to living here.

SIN is now needed for tax returns

by Doreen Hawman

Revenue Canada now requires that every person who lived or worked in Canada during 1989 and who files an income tax return must provide a Social Insurance Number (SIN).

You should be prepared to present a SIN to anyone who completes a T4, T5, or T600 information slip on your behalf.

If you do not obtain a number, each time it is requested you could be liable for a fine of $100.

Applications are now available from the Canada Employment Office or your nearest Information Centre. In Haliburton, the centre is located in the Drag River Municipal Building, Maple Ave., open Monday to Friday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call 457-2733.

Fundamental # 3 :

"Pssst! . . . WANNA BUY A HOUSE?"

Surely, this would not be a wise approach to selling your house. More to the point: if you were a buyer, would you even consider such a "proposition"? We think not.
The sale of a home occurs three, maybe four times, in a lifetime, and involves many experts at each stage of the transaction.
REALTORS are an essential part of that process.

REALTORS adhere to a strict Code of Ethics; their services thus ensure that your most important asset – your home – is handled professionally, so that your expectations are met.
... that can make a REAL difference!

"WHERE THE ACTION IS"

Balanced Budget: But new federal budget puts province behind the eight ball

For the first time in 20 years the provincial government has balanced its books, but the good news was tempered by the recent federal budget, says M.P.P. John Eakins.

"I am very excited about the fact that we have been able to balance our 1989-90 Ontario fiscal budget, but the new federal budget puts us behind the eight ball for the 1990-91 fiscal year," Eakins says.

Finance Minister Michael Wilson's recent budget means the province of Ontario will be short-changed by about $500 million next year. Even though Ontario will be going into the year with a balanced budget, it will have to find some way of capturing that $500 million in order to balance the 1990-91 books, Eakins says.

"The Wilson budget kind of swallowed up the good news about the tremendous progress the Ontario government has made in fighting its debt," Eakins says. "When we took over in 1985, we inherited a debt of $2.6 billion."

Eakins says that in the last 40 years, the Province of Ontario has balanced its budget only three times. Even though the provincial government has raised taxes, he "pay-as-you-go" policy has worked because the provincial debt has been wiped out and social programs have increased, he said.

Eakins said he was also pleased that Ontario Treasurer Robert Nixon effectively used an unexpected income tax windfall of $879 million by advancing $334 million immediately to hospitals to ease their cashflow pressures.

Dorset Acid Rain Report

The following report on precipitation events was recorded at the Ministry of Environment acid rain testing station in Dorset and compiled by Environment Canada.

This report covers the period of February 22 to February 24.

February 22, 25 cm snow, 4.6 pH, from Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan and southern Ontario.

February 24, 2 cm snow, 4.8 pH, from northern Ontario and northwestern Quebec.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 pH or less are considered dangerous. The lower the reading, the more acidic the precipitation.

PUBLIC INSPECTION OF THE APPROVED FOREST MANAGEMENT PLAN FOR THE VICTORIA COUNTY AGREEMENT FOREST

The Minden District of the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources, with the assistance of The County of Victoria has prepared a Forest Management Plan for the Victoria County Agreement Forest, to address the planning period April 1, 1990 to March 31, 2010.

This approved plan has been completed in accordance with the principles of integrated resource management (IRM), the Ministry guideline "A Framework for Resource Management Planning in MNR" (Policy & Planning Secretariate), and the District Land Use Guidelines for the two districts involved (i.e. Minden and Lindsay).

The general public and identifiable interested parties have been invited to participate in the planning process at a number of stages, including the Information Centre held in Lindsay on June 20, 1989, and have had opportunities to review and comment on the draft plan during the period December 1, 1989, to February 6, 1990; such participation has resulted in the present approved plan which you are invited to inspect at the Minden District Office of the Ministry of Natural Resources, or at the Lindsay District Office, OMNR, 322 Kent Street West, Lindsay, during the period March 12 - April 12, 1990.

This will be your final opportunity to inspect the plan prior to its implementation. Following acceptance by the County of Victoria the plan will be implemented.
